Health facilities opened

by Matthew Sitler

Years of planning, dedication and hard work came to fruition Friday for the consumers of health care in the Highlands. The occasion was the much-anticipated opening of the new Minden and Haliburton hospital sites.

A sunny, clear day, hundreds of enthusiastic public supporters and well-wishers turned out to view the proceedings. Master of Ceremonies Peter Forgrave introduced the platform party before welcoming Chairman of the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Corporation, Dave Coulson, to the podium. "Today we are celebrating our new health care facilities in both Minden and Haliburton," Coulson said. "But today isn't just about buildings. Today marks the end of a long journey, one both communities started many years ago."

Coulson listed some of the milestones that had led to last Friday's ceremonies. "The journey began in 1986 when chronic care beds were first allocated to the community," he said. "Today, we are celebrating another step in the creation of a vision of health care - that vision was to create an integrated system that would include all health

Valentine refutes accusations made at candidates meeting

by Jerry Grozelle

Accusations were flying at the September 23 all-candidates meeting at the Minden Community Centre. Bill Valentine, who is running for councillor-at-large in the new municipality which is currently known as SLAHM, (Snowdon, Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden) bore the brunt of some heated accusations by three Lutterworth ratepayers -- Bill Redgrave, Hermann Gerditschke and his son Charlie Gerditschke.

Valentine was accused of spending $1,400 of Lutterworth taxpayers' money for him and his wife Sandy to attend a conference in Toronto. He was accused of withholding a payment to the municipality on a land deal 20 years ago and of using his influence as councillor to sever property which was deemed by the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Ministry of Environment to be at capacity for developement on Moore Lake.

"It was a personal attack, that's what it was," Valentine said.

Lutterworth Ward council candidate Mike Wahlroth was also a target of accusations at the all-candidates meeting October 23. That story and his response can be found on page 5.

The conference Valentine attended was a combined Ontario Good Roads Association and Rural Ontario Municipalities' Association event. Municipalities routinely send members of council and staff to attend these events. "Minden sent four or five," he said.

Valentine said he and Kevin Hill were the representatives from Lutterworth who attended that conference.

"I paid every cent that it cost for Sandy to go -- $194," he said. "What he did to get that figure ($1,400), he added my expenses and Kevin's expenses and the township's membership fee. I think my figure was $681. You can check with the township."

Valentine said his expenses were not out of line. "Minden's expenses were a thousand bucks each," he said.

Regarding the payment to the municipality from 20 years ago, Valentine said he checked with his lawyers and found that it is their understanding that the fee is to be paid when a certain percentage of the lots have been sold.

"We dedicated two laneways to the township when it was deeded, but things are still up in the air," he said. "It says in the agreement that the fee was to be paid at a later date. There is no specific date. It was my understand-

Beaverbrook Golf Course presented a cheque for $2500 to the Haliburton Highlands Health Services Foundation (HHHSF) last week. The amount represented the $1245 contributed by golfers who donated their cart rental deposits during the season and a matching donation from Dave and Sonia Stevens. Accepting the contribution to the building fund were Foundation manager Dale Walker and Chair Gord Monk, right. The Stevens expressed appreciation to all the clients who donated.

services in Haliburton County."

"For some, this project has meant signing a letter of approval, for others it has meant signing a cheque," he continued. "For others, it's meant attending meetings. But the real heroes are the staff who work in both facilities, they are the ones who've made this project work."

MPP for Haliburton - Victoria - Brock, Chris Hodgson, began his speech by reiterating what a great day it was for Haliburton County. "This is a day that we've looked forward to for almost a generation," said Hodgson. "It was almost ten years ago when I first got into municipal politics, and was pleased to join Jack Brezina and other members of the community on a board to try and improve our health care services."

Times have changed, noted Hodgson, "Seven years ago we used to drive around seeing those signs that were about saving our hospitals," he continued. "Today we are blessed with some of the best facilities in Ontario. Integrated, brand new, and here to serve our needs for the next century." Hodgson announced how pleased he was to be part of the ceremonies. "On behalf of the Province and the people of our riding, I am proud to be invited to take part."

Hodgson also paid tribute to the members of the Health Services Board and in particular recognized the current chair, David Coulson and past chairs Stuart Baker, Paul Heffer and Hugh Nichol. Commenting later, he noted that they had all lain the ground work for what was being opened at the two sites. "Stuart and Paul brought the communities together, while Hugh, was chair during the crucial construction phase, ensuring the project did not go over-budget."

Fresh from a sod-turning ceremony in Lindsay at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Ontario's Health Care Minister, Elizabeth Witmer spoke of another such ceremony that occurred in the recent past. "Here we are back at the site where we turned the sod three years ago," she said. "What a thrill it was for me to drive up today to see this beautiful facility - with such a caring and able staff."

The new facilities are the result of a joint project between the provincial and federal governments and a community one-third share, Witmer said the Minden and Haliburton facilities will now be able to provide the continual health care services that are required by their residents. "This, I will tell you, is one of the best integrated health systems we have anywhere," she said. "It may have taken you a long time to get here, but this is the model of health care we are beginning to move toward. You are leading the way and we are very pleased you are going to have access to these services closer to home."

Haliburton-Victoria-Brock MP John O'Reilley commented on the Minden facility's beautiful decor. "The pleasure for me is to see this tremendous facility - I can't believe the soft colors and the beauty has finally come to the Highlands," he said. "I know the patients and the tenants here are thrilled with it.

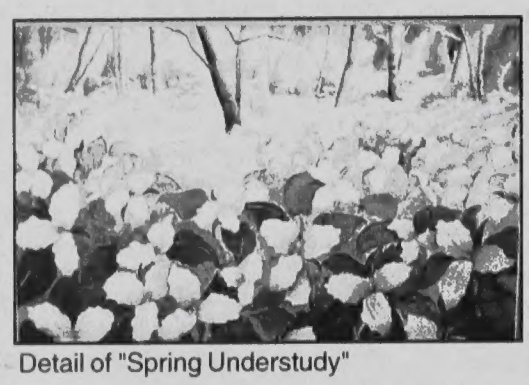
Ruth Orr's watercolour show will astound and delight

by Matthew Sitler

Wildlife, the landscapes they inhabit and the flowers that add colour to it are all on display at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden until October 7.

Exquisitely framed and painted with a grace all their own, artist Ruth Orr's work is a stunning treat, especially considering her subject matter is one that is already widely interpreted on canvas.



Detail of "Spring Understudy"

"I grew up with a father who painted," says Orr. "I started dabbing around with paints when I was a teenager. I enjoyed it, and have taken classes every year in Haliburton at Sir Sandford Flemming School of the Arts and previously at the Guild of All Arts in Scarborough."

Her work is done from photographs. To say that Orr has a way with colour interpretation would be an understatement. Rich, and conveyed with unique style, her paintings of landscapes and flowers leave the viewer with the impression of nature's simple beauty.

"This time of the year is very inspiring," says the artist who's great rendering of the old Minden Barn can be seen among the other gems that are hanging on the walls of this show. "I painted that just before it was taken down," said Orr. "I try to change them (the paintings) a little bit from the photos."

Artist Ruth Orr

The artist's collection of watercolours runs at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery until October 7. The show coincides with the Studio Tour Sampler.

Sunrise, by Ruth Orr.

Puffins are the subject of one of Ruth's paintings - the inspiration was drawn from a trip Orr took with her husband Vic. "We went to Machiaseal Island to see the puffins," she explains. "It's an island with only puffins on it, off New Brunswick. They only allow 25 people per day to visit because they have a rookery there."

A resident of Four Mile Lake, the nearness to waterfowl has also influenced her work. Hooded meganzers also populate Orr's painted world. "During the spring, they migrate to our area. We also put out a loon platform every year - We've had the same pair of nesting loons for the past ten years."

Orr has shown her work many times in Scarborough, at the Guild and the Cedar Ridge art Gallery. Preparation for the showings are fun for her as well. "After a painting has been framed, it's like putting the icing on the cake," says Orr who finds the perfect frame for each one. It's the sign of a woman who's drawn to detail. "The frame really makes the picture," she explains.

Orr says she would like her show to inspire others to take up painting. Viewers will discover that the landscapes are pictures of many places, including Haliburton, and the East Coast. "A lot of it is Haliburton," says Orr. "The fall scenes, and the wetlands. Quebec and Prince Edward Island as well." Orr says she really enjoys painting, that its something she really finds relaxing. Simply stunning, Ruth Orr's work will dazzle the public with its elegant grace and charm.

The show continues at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery until this Saturday, October 7. The Gallery is also hosting a Studio Tour Sampler, featuring the work of various artists on this year's Haliburton County Studio Tour. Call the Gallery for more details: 705-286-3763.

PRE-PLANNING...
A THOUGHTFUL WAY OF CARING
When you die, your loved ones will have to deal not only with their sorrow and loss in your passing, but also with the many details and decisions required in planning your funeral arrangements.
By caring enough to pre-plan these arrangements you can ease the burden of your family during this difficult time. With pre-planning, you specify arrangements that might have otherwise caused sadness, confusion, even differences of opinion among family members. You make the choices - even determine the cost - involved in your funeral; bringing peace of mind to yourself and your family with the knowledge that they will not have to decide what your wishes might have been.
Planning for the future is logical, wise and caring.
Don't let this important time be an exception.

'It's a vendetta': Valentine

ing that when we sold three-quarters of the lots it was payable."

There are still four of the 12 lots unsold.

Valentine said he believes the reason the issue was brought up was becaues the person who made the accusation, Bill Redgrave, was turned down for a commercial zoning on his property.

"It's a vendetta -- from both sides," Valentine said.

Valentine has applied for a severance of five acres from a larger parcel he owns west of Highway 35 near Moore's Falls. The property in question is on the other side of the highway from Moore Lake. "It's a thousand metres from Moore Lake," he said, adding that the property he wants to sever is not within the area designated as at capacity for development by the MNR and MOE. Valentine said he wants to sever the 5-plus acre lot so he can sell it to someone who is interested in building a house on the property. The new owner, if the sale goes through, would be subject to setback regulations from the creek.

"He could build a thousand feet from the creek if he wanted to," Valentine said. "If it (the severence) doesn't go through, I'll just drop it. I don't care. It was just five acres that everybody else used anyway, so I thought I might as well sell it."

He is convinced that his detractors are trying to get even with him because they didn't get what they wanted in the past.

"They're just trying to make me look bad," Valentine said, adding that he wasn't prepared for the personal attack. "They figure they'd get old Valentine and make him look bad."

"I figured we'd go in there (to the all-candidates meeting) and talk about what we wanted to see in the new township and stuff like that. Boy did I get fooled. They're after me because I've been on council so long.

The regular meeting of Lutterworth council was held Thursday evening.

"Lisa (Mercer) apologized to me on behalf of the council for not supporting me better," Valentine said. "He added that Hermann Gerditschke had sent council a letter regarding another matter and council, in its reply to that letter, is including reference to the earlier all-candidates meeting telling Gerditschke that "everything he did was inappropriate and wrong."

Valentine said he isn't sure how the accusations will affect his chances of being elected as councillor-at-large. "There are 5,200 voters and there were 200 at the meeting," he said. "People want to believe there is wrong-doing. It's the name of the game. I wouldn't mind, if it was true. If it was true, then I'd be ashamed of myself. I wouldn't be upset. But when it's total viscious lies, it's really upsetting.

"If I don't get elected, I'll put my signs away carefully and run again next time."

Applications made by Lutterworth Councillors

Moore Lake severences under public scrutiny

by Matthew Sitler

Moored or full-speed ahead? The Ministry of the Environment (MOE) doesn't want any additional lots created on Moore Lake. Because Lutterworth Councillors Mike Wahlroth and Bill Valentine have both had applications for severances passed by Township's Council, the issue has recently come under public scrutiny - stirring the ire of certain individuals who would like their concerns addressed.

In a letter to the Land Division Committee of the County of Haliburton (LDC) regarding the Moore Lake Severance Applications dated August 29, MOE Surface Water Scientist Victor Castro states that "Based upon dissolved oxygen/temperature profiles, no optimal habitat is present in the deeper waters (of Moore Lake) by late summer, and that the proposed creation of additional lots and the resultant increase in phosphorus loading to Moore Lake is opposed." The MOE has until an October 4 deadline to appeal the severances.

The letter further states: "This water quality does not meet the Provincial Water Quality Objectives for dissolved oxygen in lakes supporting cold water biota, as such, the MOE has classified Moore Lake as a "highly sensitive" lake trout lake and as a policy 2 receiver. The protection of water quality and fish habitat is a matter of provincial interest under the Provincial Policy Statement."

Councillor Wahlroth, who also serves as Chair of the Land Division Committee, has become the target of those in the public who allege he has ignored the MOE's concerns regarding this matter, and also for

Councillor says he has nothing to hide

by Matthew Sitler

Public accusations about severance applications on Moore Lake are being fuelled by people with axes to grind, says Lutterworth Councillor Mike Wahlroth. Emotionally affected by the attacks on his integrity, yet eager to get his side of the story out, Wahlroth told The Times he has nothing to hide - that certain accusations being made against him aren't based in concern for the environment, but are the result of bitter acrimony.

"If there's one complaint, there might as well be ten," he said. "I'm prepared to go as far as I have to because I honestly believe this."

At last week's all-candidates meeting held in Minden Saturday, September 23, a number of area residents verbally accosted Lutterworth Councillors Wahlroth and Bill Valentine, accusing them of indifference regarding the Ministry of the Environments (MOE) concerns for the Moore Lake habitat. A number of letters to the editor received by The Times have suggested that Wahlroth may have conflict of interest issues regarding the severance applications he made because of his position as Chair of the Land Division Committee of Haliburton County. "This makes a guy wonder why the hell he runs for public office," said Wahlroth. "I said it the other night at the meeting, it's because I feel that I can make a difference - only time will tell whether I have or not."

Through the use of maps, Councillor Wahlroth explained to The Times where his property on Moore Lake begins and ends. "I've spent a whole lot of dollars building my home, and it is not my intention to screw up the lake," he said. "But I honestly believe it's my children's birthright to build on it." Wahlroth began by saying his son came to visit the weekend of July 10. "My son came to me and said 'Dad, I've saved some money - I want to build a home,' I said, 'Okay, we'll go walk it - you can pick what you want.'" Wahlroth had picked up his severance papers beforehand, knowing his son's intentions and filled

A leader and visionary

Pierre Elliot Trudeau leaves behind a legacy that will be remembered long into this nation's future. A man of vision and determination, he led the way as this country emerged from the shadow of its colonial past into an era of self-realization and pride.

He showed Canadians that as a nation we could stand on our own on the world stage. He made Canada a player in international forums, one whose voice deserved to be heard and who had something valuable to contribute.

At home he gave the country a sense of direction and purpose. Trudeau helped define the nation and set the course which carried Canada into the new century. Sometimes scorned for his unorthodox points of view, the criticism was often based on a lack of understanding. However, once the critics came to understand his vision, if not accept it as their own, they realized the wisdom and foresight it contained.

Trudeau held the country in the palm of his hand, from the silliness of Trudeaumania to his final days in office. Even after he had formally left the halls of power, his wisdom was sought after and valued.

There are few individuals in the last century who have left such an indelible mark on our nation. Hopefully we will find leaders with that vision, courage and foresight again.

Letters

Grasping at an issue

Editor:

During my nine years on Stanhope Council I have always felt that politicians or those striving to be so, should not use the editorial section of our newspapers to further their cause. However, Cheryl Mansell's recent letters to the editor are very misleading and must be challenged. I feel that her slamming of the present council is totally unjustified.

Cheryl is implying that because she is not a full time resident, we feel she is not entitled to a position on Council. This is not so. At the Maple-Beech Lake Property Owners Association and the Kushog Lake Property Owners Association general meetings, I prefaced my remarks regarding Cheryl with the comment that I had great respect for her ambition to get into local politics. The issue as far as all of us on Council and many others I have spoken with is her aiming for the top job with no previous experience. I liken this to running for Prime Minister or President of a country having had no previous experience in a legislature, or appointing someone to be a principal of a school having had no previous managerial experience. I would have no problem with Cheryl running for Council and eventually aiming for the top job with the necessary experience under her belt.

Cheryl claims that no member of the present council has taken it upon themselves to critique her stand on current issues. The fact is we have only seen her at the two meetings mentioned above. She has yet to attend a Council meeting to see what goes on, she has not attended any of the public Transition Board meetings to get a feel for the challenges which we have been solving since early in March, nor has she, to my knowledge ever attended any Stanhope Committee meetings which are also open to the public.

If she really wants to discuss issues with us - these are where issues are dealt with and this is where she can really find out what is going on.

As far as I can determine, Cheryl's lack of knowledge of what we do is forcing her to grasp at this we/they issue in order to attract the attention of our very important seasonal residents. One only needs to review the recently reported comments of Norma Goodger and Christine Macartney at the Kushog Lake meeting to realize that the present Stanhope Council does not operate with a we/they mentality.

Jim Hicks,
Councillor for the Township of Stanhope

Reduced speed, add a guard

Editor:

In regard to Mr. Wood's letter concerning the speed limit within town: I am in total agreement. Where I am most concerned about is the portion of the Bobcaygeon Road that runs by the school. 50 kph is much too fast considering there are many children who cross there in order to go to school. Even though, I cannot help but wonder if reducing the speed limit will at all reduce the risk these children face when crossing.

I work at C.H.A.C.E. Day care and often go to pick up the children at the school for our after school program. On my way there and back from the school, I have observed many drivers pay little mind to the speed limit and the sign notifying them to watch for school children up ahead. It makes me wonder and thank God that a child has not yet been hit by a vehicle. I think the solution to this is to have a crossing guard to help the children to cross before and after school. I know I would feel more at ease, and I am sure many parents who have children who walk to school would as well.

There are some people who would be concerned about the cost of having a crossing guard but, if you considered the value of one child's life, is it not worth it?

Questions raised about the meeting's format

Editor:

Many at the All Candidates Meeting found it strange that individual candidates who were unopposed at the time were excused from answering questions from the audience by the Chairperson, Mr. Jack Brezina.

It was also very obvious to those in attendance that the Lutterworth Councillors, Valentine and Walroth were being spared further embarrassing questions by the chair and it was my understanding that as Mr. Brezina had pointed out prior to the meeting, it was an opportunity to come out and get the facts, as we have to live with those we elect, for the next three years.

Lisa Mercer, Lutterworth's Deputy Reeve, made it very clear that regardless to the MNR's objection to further development on Moore's Lake, she supported the recent applications of councillors Valentine and Wahlroth, for the creation of new lots. It's interesting to note that the chair of the Haliburton County Lands Division is no other than Lutterworth Councillor Mike Wahlroth. What were the other members of the Land Division Committee doing when they knew full well the opposition to these rezonings by the MNR and the MOE?

Well, now that the "Luttergate Affair" has been made public, perhaps the true picture can be presented by the press. It is time that Minden be given the facts, prior to the election, so that taxpayers can vote, to keep Minden honest.

Kim Redgrave,
Minden Ontario.

Editor's note: While I was asked to serve as moderator for the all candidates meeting, the format, including the decision not to have the unopposed candidates available for questions, was the decision of the organizing committee.

Somewhat misleading

Re: Association presents plan to open Buckslides, (The Times, September 18):

There were several disturbing implications in your report of the presentation made to Stanhope Council by the Boshkung Lake Cottagers Association, calling for the creation of a trail along the Buckslides.

The suggestion by Ms. Lowery that Boshkung descendants' "forefathers and ancestors" enjoyed the falls, is somewhat misleading. The property in question has been owned by the same family for 54 years. When the property was initially on the market 54 years ago, none of these "forefathers and ancestors", nor the Township of

To heck with the hecklers

One of the things I do when I'm not playing hunt and peck with my computer keyboard is speechify. Which is to say I stand up on my hind legs in front of roomsful of strangers and try to make them laugh. It's not an unpleasant gig, once you get over stage sweats. Public speakers get to travel all over the country; you meet a ton of folks you otherwise wouldn't, plus you get a nice speaker's fee and usuually a free dinner out of the deal.

Of course there is a downside to making public speeches.

It is called The Heckler. It's an uncommon breed, but there only needs to be one of them in an audience of hundreds to ruin a speaker's evening.

Contrary to the aura of easy confidence good speakers exude, they're usually sweating bullets up there. Fear of public speaking is the number one phobia - 'way ahead of fear of heights and fear of snakes. When a speech is going well, the speaker is like a tightrope walker - still scared, but getting across.

When some buffoon in the third row yells something, it's like having your tightrope wobble. You know you are millimeters away from freefall.

Fortunately, hecklers tend to belong to one of two subspecies: stoned or stunned.

A drunken heckler usually has just the one arrow in his quiver. Once that's shot, he's roadkill.

The stupid ones are more difficult. For one thing, they don't appreciate how stupid they are.

Luckily, the audience usually does. Audiences, by and large, are incredibly forgiving organisms. They don't like hecklers any more than the speaker does. And if the speaker says something - pretty much anything - that puts the heckler in his place, the audience will rise and cheer as one.

I've never found the perfect squelch for hecklers but other speakers have handled the situation deftly. Some boob once made the mistake of interrupting David Letterman in mid-monologue. Letterman paused, surveyed the heckler through hooded eyes and murmured "What exactly is on your mind, if you'll excuse the exaggeration?"

I know a stand-up comedian who skewers males (hecklers are almost always male and isn't that a surprise) with "Ah! Good to see you again, back in men's clothing."

If he doesn't feel like toying with the heckler he dismisses him with "I'm sorry sir, I don't speak alcoholic." Or, "You'll have to forgive me, I don't know how to deal with you. I'm a comedian, not a proctologist." And if he's really ticked off, he yells at the heckler "Save your breath. You'll need it to inflate your date later." Crude retorts, but we live in crude times.

Our ancestors, not surprisingly, handled hecklers with much better grace. The author Charles Lamb was once interrupted during a reading by a heckler who hissed at him. Lamb paused, skewered the interloper with his eyes and purred: "There are only three creatures that hiss: a goose, a snake and a fool. Stand forth so that we may identify you."

Sir Robert Menzies, one-time Prime Minister of Australia, was once beset at a political rally by a woman heckler. "I wouldn't vote for you if you were the Archangel Gabriel!" she shrieked. Menzies calmly replied "If I were the Archangel Gabriel, madam, you would scarcely be in my constituency."

Ah, but my all time favourite heckler put-down sprang from the lips of a British political troublemaker by the name of John Wilkes. Mister Wilkes stepped on a lot of toes during his 18th century political career -including a pair of bunioned beauties attached to the Earl of Sandwich. Wilkes and the Earl cordially loathed each other and took every opportunity to so testify. One evening after a boozy dinner the Earl rounded on Wilkes and thundered, "Egad, Wilkes! I have often wondered what catastrophe would bring you to your end. I think that you shall die of the pox (i.e. syphilis) or the noose."

And quick as a cobra, Wilkes stood up, smiled silkily and retorted: "That would depend My Lord, on whether I embraced your mistress or your principles."

I'd give up my speaker's fee to get off a squelch like that.

Thank you for the coverage

Editor:

The Boshkung Lake Property Owners' Association would like to take this opportunity to thank The Times for their news coverage over the last few months which helped to keep our seasonal residents informed on social events as well as other news-worthy activities.

We would also like to remind seasonal residents to take appropriate crime prevention procedures when preparing your homes for limited winter use. Cottage Watch on Lake Boshkung has been a success but it does require ongoing year round awareness and participation.

We would remind the entire community that we still offer a $1,000 reward for information that leads to the arrest and conviction of anyone who violates the property of Lake Boshkung Association members.

To all seasonal residents, we wish you a happy and safe 'off season' and look forward to your return. Those of us who have made the Haliburton Highlands our permanent home will keep an eye on things while you are away.

In order to "just gain the rights of the public", the owners of the property adjoining the river will be forced to give up their safety, security and privacy so that all may enjoy the beautiful scenery. No matter the cost - financial or environmental, I assume. No matter the hikers and cyclists who would have to literally walk across cottage steps, patios and through personal space, in order to afford themselves of the view. Who is "the public"?

I would enjoy packing a picnic lunch and heading out for a walk along the shoreline of Boshkung Lake. I understand there are some particularly lovely views on both sides of the lake. Or perhaps, I could spend the afternoon in one spot, bring my dog and extended family and just enjoy the 66 foot right of way. According to the people quoted in your article, I would be simply excercising my public right.

Senior Red Hawks bow to Crestwood in opener

The Red Hawks Senior football team from the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School would have liked a better start to the season when they hosted Crestwood's Mustangs Thursday. They gave up a 32-6 decision to the visitors.

But the Red Hawks had nothing to be ashamed of. They had a bad first half, but improved over the second half.

The Red Hawks were playing minus some key veterans. Quarterback Mike Morissette suffered a bruised kidney early in the game, which sent him to the sidelines for the duration.

The first half, they outplayed us," said assistant coach Gary Brohman. "But we had bad luck the first half. Our starting quarterback and two-way player Mike Morissette got hurt, so he was out for the whole game. Brian Mulholland did his best at quarterback as a replacement, but we definitely missed Mike."

Brohman said the team regrouped at half time. "We said lets try to win this half of the football game.

"We scored six points on a defensive touchdown by Nick Cochrane. Daniel Morgan tackled their half back in the back field and the guy fumbled the ball. Nick picked it up and ran for the 75-yard touchdown."

Late ir the game, with the Red Hawks giving many of the substitute players some field experience, the Mustangs struck again.

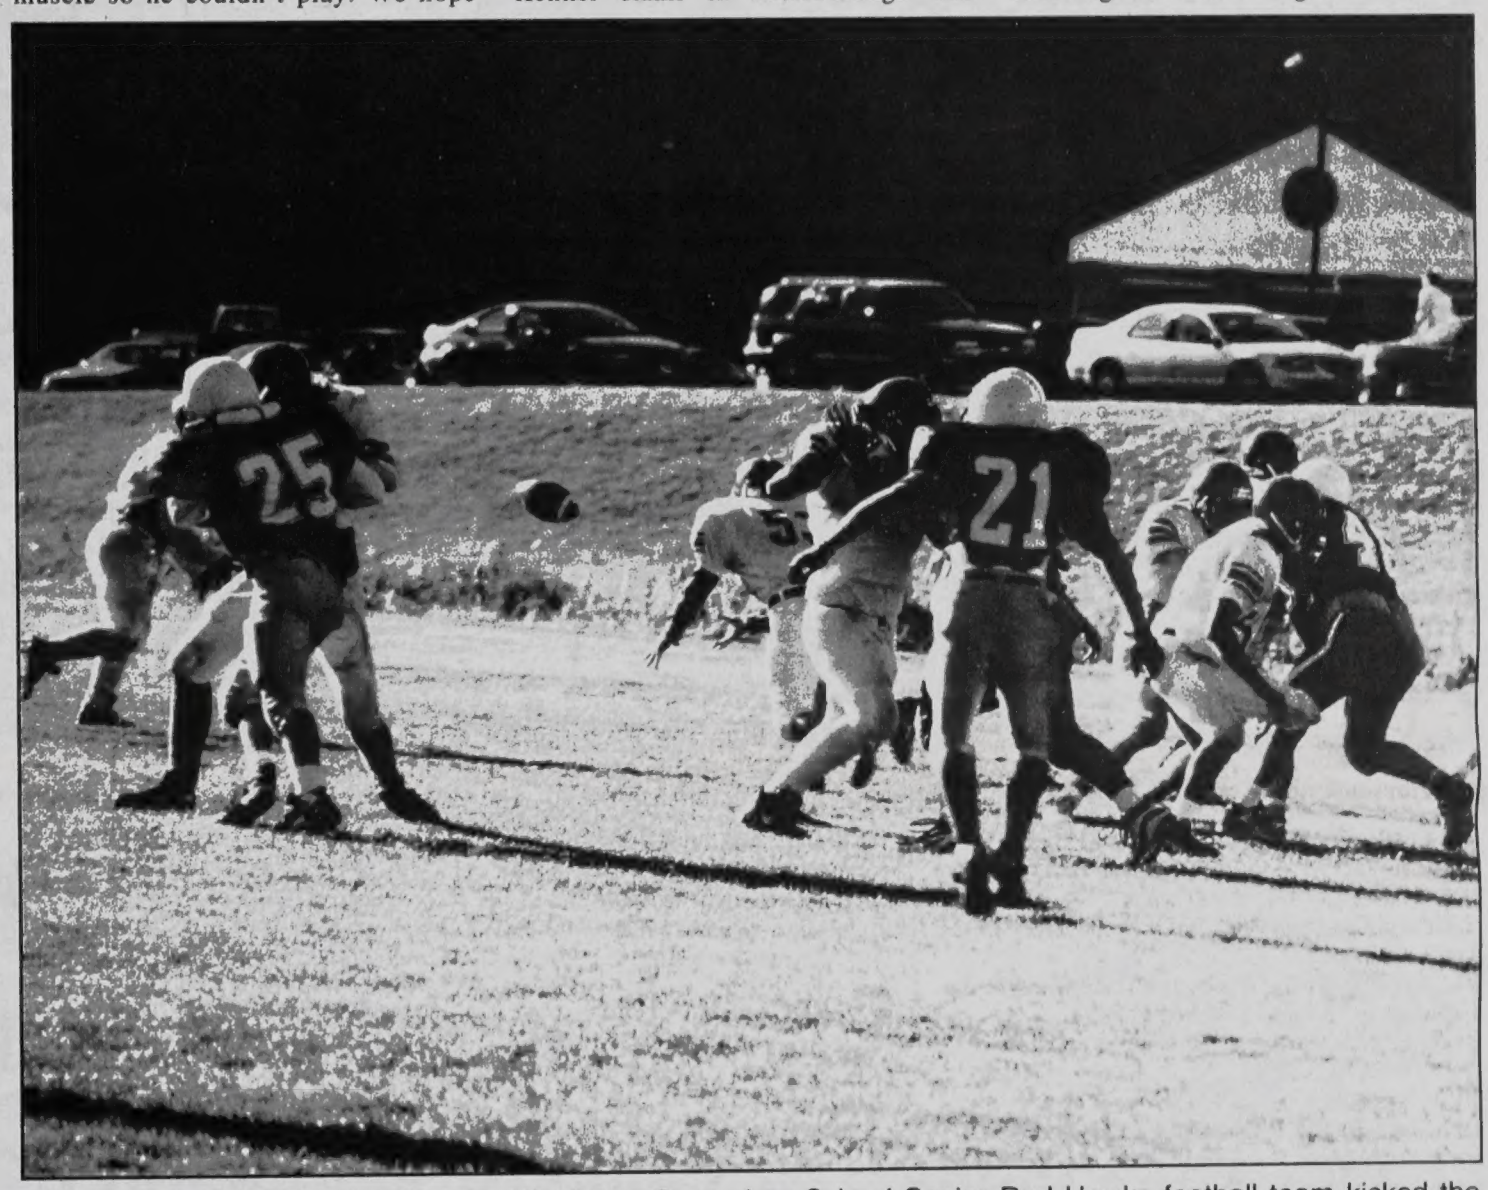
"Overall, it was a pretty close second half," Brohman said. "We look forward to playing them again."

Brohman said his team has a lot of work to do. "We have to get over this injury bug," he said.

Besides the injury to Morissette, Trevor Clement is out with a broken leg and Shane Walker is nursing a separated shoulder.

"So, those two first-stringers are out and then, this week, our starting running back Jamie Doan pulled his quad muscle so he couldn't play. We hope we'll get better as the injuries get healed and as the year goes on."

The Senior Red Hawks play the Kenner Rams in Peterborough this Thursday. The Junior Red Hawks football team will play its first game of the season Friday against the Crestwood Mustangs in Peterborough.



SEASON OPENER: The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Senior Red Hawks football team kicked the season off on home turf last week with a game against the Crestwood Mustangs. The Red Hawks came out on the short end of the score, but showed determination and improvement as the game progressed.

New name for arena

The Minden Arena is going by a new name.

Anson, Hindon and Minden council passed a resolution at last Thursday's meeting renaming the facility the Sinclair Nesbitt Memorial Arena.

Council discussed whether to dedicate the entire recreation complex to the memory of Sinc Nesbitt, who was a local politician in both Anson, Hindon and Minden as well as Stanhope for 40 years. He was a big supporter of the facility and an avid hockey fan.

In the end, council decided to name the Arena in his honour.

Councillor Daryl Moore said the idea had been discussed at a Parks and Recreation Committee meeting. "I think it's an excellent idea," Moore said.

Signs will soon be erected displaying the new name.

Caring about the health of the Highlands

Thank you for caring about health care in the Haliburton Highlands."

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve and Haliburton County Warden, Jean Anthon thanked everyone who, in her words, "contributed so much. It is with great pleasure that I share this day with you," she said. "On behalf of the County of Haliburton, I congratulate everyone who has participated in this whole process."

Following the speeches, there was still time for plaque presentations and the official ribbon cutting ceremony. This was followed by the unveiling of the donor wall just inside the main entrance.

The Haliburton proceedings mirrored Minden's save for the absence of Witmer who had an event in her own riding of Kitchener-Waterloo.

The Haliburton ceremony included Dysart et al's Reeve Murray Fearrey. He started his speech with a touch of humour. "You have heard Mr. O'Reilley say how proud he was of the infrastructure program: and we are too," Looking at O'Reilley, he continued, "And we'll make you proud again if you announce another one."

"I remember the day we went down and saw Eleanor Caplan (Liberal Minister of Health) in Toronto and got turned down flat on funding for these projects," he continued. "By the way John, you can say hello to Eleanor and tell her that I'm glad she's not here today."

Fearrey said how proud he and his council were to see the day come to fruition. "This is an infrastructure that gives people the confidence that health care will remain strong in Haliburton County," he concluded.

Haliburton Doctor Scott Coles, representing the medical staff, summed up everyone's sentiments by thanking the HHHS Board, the Foundation and the Ladies Auxillary. "On behalf of the medical staff, I would just like to say we are pleased and excited about this new facility," he began. "After working

Business Profile

No place like HOME

It is a long way from a corner hardware store to the 20,000 square foot Home Hardware outlet and lumber yard which dominates the southern entrance to Minden. The building provides ample evidence of the dedication and hard work the Pentney family has invested in the community over the past 30 years. But a business of that size and longevity is more than a building. It is the result of a local customer base built over the years with helpful, friendly service, the right products at the right prices and a staff that is knowledgeable about the products it is selling and stands ready to offer advice and assistance to the people it serves.

Minden Home Hardware continues to improve.

The Pentney family connection with Minden goes back to 1970 when John and Minnie Pentney purchased what was then the Crest Hardware Store on the Corner of Main and Peck Streets. Though the couple had worked in the retail trade before, John had been a manager of a Loblaws grocery store in Hamilton, the Hardware business was a completely new world to them. Working with key staff members, they built a reputation the hardware store had acquired over the years and expand on that base.

In 1973, they joined a budding chain of Home Hardware Stores, a group that welcomed and encouraged local ownership, but benefited from the buying power that no single store could achieve. Today, the Home Hardware group of stores is the largest of it's type in Canada.

Minden Home Hardware grew and expanded with the community it served. The store on Main Street was enlarged to accommodate the needs of it's growing clientele. In 1985, the Pentney family opened a building supply division, under a Home-All flag, on property adjacent to the store on Peck Street. The addition complemented the hardware business, allowing home handy-men and professional builders alike to find the right tools and the material with which to do the job, all in one location.

By this time, John Jr., known to most as "Ace", and his wife Linda, had taken over management of the hardware store, while John Sr. and his second son David operated the building supply division. Even with the expansion, the business continued to grow to the point where once again the Pentney's were looking for another location.

When the land overlooking Highway 35, at the southern entrance of town became available, they purchased it. This piece of property was the location of the Bowron Homestead, one of the first families to settle in the area. The log home on the property represented a significant part of the community's history, and so the family donated the structure to the Minden County Town Museum Committee. The log building was relocated to the museum site behind the library and has become the centre-piece of the growing pioneer village. That spirit of community involvement is also evident in their sponsorship and contributions to many groups, organizations and lake associations.

Anyone who has driven by the Home Hardware store recently will know that the process of renewal has not stopped. A new Main Street entrance and parking area is under construction, the sheds and lumber inventory are being expanded and a 30 by 60 foot expansion is being made to the north end of the building to accommodate an enlarged garden centre.

Through the additions, expansions and moves one key aspect of the business has remained constant...service. The Pentneys have always put the needs of their customers first and they have instilled that attitude in their staff. The community has responded favourably to that approach and made Minden Home Hardware on of the more successful businesses in the Highlands.

John Sr. has retired but his sons continue to manage the business. The tradition of service, which he began to nurture over 30 years ago, has become a hallmark of Minden Home Hardware and remains to this day...proving that in Minden, there is no place like Home.

Public hears from the SLAHM candidates in a sometimes noisey meeting

by Jerry Grozelle

Three candidates, Cheryl Murdoch, Ross Rigney and Jerry Rome, have stepped forward to run for the position of reeve of the townships of Snowdon, Lutterworth, Anson, Hindon and Minden. All three attended the all-candidates meeting at the Minden Community Centre on September 23.

Rigney

The order of speaking was determined by a random draw, with Ross Rigney drawing first place at the podium.

Rigney is the current reeve of Snowdon Township. He has also served as councillor for the township.

Rigney said the amalgamation process brings fear and apprehension, but unlike the county to the south, which was forced to accept the recommendations of a commissioner, he is pleased that locally, "we have a made in Haliburton solution."

Rigney said he would have preferred a one-tier government in Haliburton County, but he is ready to work with the two-tier system that was democratically chosen.

"The process is going smoothly," Rigney said. "We will be ready on January 1, 2001."

Rigney told the audience of about 200 people that his background as an executive with Sears Canada, as well as temporary terms as interim Chief Administrative Officer for the county and manager of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce are assets that will be of value to him as reeve of the new municipality.

He said he also has a good rapport with the federal and provincial representatives as well as upper level government bureaucrats. "I have no qualms about picking up the phone and contacting any level of government to get answers," he said.

Rigney said he believes in progress and he is in favour of keeping taxes as low as possible, "but not at the expense of progress."

He promised full support of improved health care and protection of the environment.

Rome

Jerry Rome was the second to speak. He emphanot having his application intents announced publicly in Lutterworth's July 27 printed Council meeting agenda. Wahlroth's three applications for severances were reviewed there July 27. The applications, moved and seconded by Councillors Bill Valentine and Heather Hope were recorded in its minutes, but were not publicly announced on the agenda.

"It came up under Other Business," said Lutterworth Township's Clerk Mary Jane Irwin. "The agenda is made up the Friday prior to our council meetings (which are held Thursdays), if it's something that really can't wait until the next meeting, it comes under our 'Other Business' heading."

"The timing - because Mr. Wahlroth's applications were going to be heard at Land Division - We couldn't have waited until our next Council meeting or our comments would not have been ready for the next Land Division Committee meeting," she explained. The LDC's next meeting took place August 14.

The next Lutterworth Township meeting was held August 10. According to LDC Secretary Lois Warburton, no members of the public were present to voice any dissent about Wahlroth's applications at the LDC's August 14 meeting. No committee members voiced any opposition to them either.

"He (Wahlroth) was aware of the report from the MOE," stated Warburton. "He was willing, if anyone appealed the decision, to state his case in front of an Ontario Municipal Board (OMB)." Warburton said Bill Valentine's application for a severance on Moore Lake will be on the LDC's October 16 meeting's agenda. "We are waiting for reports to be completed," she said. "A decision will be made then providing we have all of them." Warburton commented the LDC has dealt with similar cases before. "We've had cases where the MOE has given this type of report, and the Committee has gone ahead and been granted approval," she said. "Sometimes they appeal, sometimes they don't."

"It is a policy 2 lake, and it is at the discretion of the Ministry to revise the comments." said Warburton, adding: "Mr. Wahlroth feels he has a good case."

Wahlroth responds to severence concerns them out with him after he had arrived. The following week, he went to hand them in to Land Division Secretary Lois Warburton, who was not available. "I went back on the 24th, gave the papers to Lois and said 'I am going to take a copy down to Mary Jane Irwin (Lutterworth Clerk) and see if I can get these put on Thursday night's agenda.'" Irwin agreed to this. "I would have preferred to have had it out in the open before that, because I understand that you are certainly subject to some scrutiny by being an elected public official," said the Councillor. "That's what happened. It was fast. I declared my pecuniary interest, and it went to Land Division."

According to Wahlroth, at the August 14 Land Division Committee meeting, the applications had to be deffered - there were favorable comments from the Health Unit still to come in. The applications were heard at the next Land Division Committee meeting on September 10. "I declared my conflict, turned the Chair over to Bill Davis who is the Vice Chairman, and I explained that I've owned this land for this length of time, my kids want to build and I'd like to sever three lots." Wahlroth says that because of the letter which had arrived by then from the MOE, he made comments at that meeting to the effect that if the Ministry was doing its job, there would be a set of standards for septic systems and there wouldn't be any sensitive lakes. "And I firmly believe that," he said. "Everybody signed and the next thing I know - we're here."

The Lutterworth Councillor said he shouldn't have to explain what happened to him Saturday night. "I will tell you that the guys who did all of the complaining are particularly mad at Bill Valentine and I - I have voted against taking over Gerditchke's road every time the issue has come up. I have been vocal about this - I don't believe we should take over one cottage road unless we are prepared to look at them all."

"The other guy who had a lot of vitriol in him - I voted in favour of a lawsuit against him," he said. "Now - if that's not a couple of axes to grind, I don't know what is." As for the MOE's concerns, Wahlroth explained that they are just that - concerns. "They have never closed it - They have stated it is policy 2, that it is sensitive." When asked if an ordinary member of the public were to make applications to sever those same lots, would they recieve the same go ahead from both the Township and the LDC, Wahlroth said they would. "I think so, yeah - But I think the argument is somewhat academic," he answered. "Because I don't think anybody else on that lake has got any land, except Bill Valentine and I."

Wahlroth said that a lot of the people on the LDC feel the same way he does about the MOE. "That there's a job to be done out there, to be done about the pollution - but it's not just saying 'No more development.'" He says that if the MOE took pro-active measures to restore the water quality on Moore Lake, he would stop his children from developing for a number of years until this was done. "I think if they were willing to go out and do something about the problem, then I'd be willing to back off for a couple of years, but I am not going to back off it now."

Satisfied that all the steps he took were reasonable and fair to his constituents, Wahlroth says he wouldn't change anything regarding this matter. "And there is no arrogance on my part in that statement," he added. "I haven't taken any unfair advantage of anything here. I believe Land Division would have done this for anybody else on Moore's Lake - if anybody else had any land to sever."

Public asking about second bridge

sized his experience as a retired bank manager and his knowledge of municipal finances.

"This has been a year of great change," he said. "As a member of the transition board, I have been working to make the transition smooth."

Rome said his skill at getting people to work together will be an asset if he is elected reeve of the new municipality. He said he is proud that Anson, Hindon and Minden taxes have been kept to a zero increase for the past several years and that AH&M taxes are the lowest in the county.

Rome said his community involvement includes membership in the Rotary Club, the Senior Housing Committee and Haliburton County Home Support Services.

He noted that the population of the area is expected to increase and he supports the expansion of health services in the county to meet future needs.

Murdoch

Cheryl Murdoch cites her background in the teaching profession and the leadership qualities she has acquired as a teacher and school board trustee which will be a valuable asset to the reeve of the amalgamated municipality.

She said that she was born and raised here and only spent five years outside the county in her professional life. She has served for the last 19 years as a trustee with the Board of Education, three of those years as chair.

Murdoch was the first chair of the newly formed Trillium Lakelands Board of Education, a position she held for two years. She said the amalgamation process she went through with the board of education has prepared her for the challenges which lie ahead in the municipal politics of the new, amalgamated townships.

Her efforts have been recognized with the presentation of an Outstanding Service Award.

"I can work as a team leader," she said.

Murdoch said fiscal responsibility is very important and she is prepared to balance the needs of both the full-time and seasonal residents.

"We've got it all," she said, pointing out the aesthetics of Haliburton County and adding that there is "room for development and growth."

"I have no axes to grind or excess baggage," she said. "I won't let you down."

Questions

Carolynn Coburn told the candidates she thinks recycling and environmental issues are getting very little more than lip service.

"Do any of you have the nerve to tell the electorate you might have to raise taxes to do it right," she challenged.

"I have the nerve," Murdoch answered. She said she could find a balance and look at other alternatives.

Ross Rigney pointed out that Snowdon has recently begun a recycling program. He acknowledged that the issue of landfill is a "time bomb." He said environmental issues are very important and there must be some guarantees that sound environmental policies are implemented.

"We must foster a new attitude," he said.

Rigney said county leadership will be necessary regarding waste management.

Rome said funds are available for studies and updates must be done to assess expansion opportunities of current facilities. "We must also study alternative solutions," he said.

He suggested that there is expertise to be tapped and solutions will be found.

Steve Taylor asked if there was any plan to build a second bridge across the Gull River in Minden, especially in light of the fact that the new hospital and its emergency facilities will soon be located on the other side of the river.

Rigney said there was no current plan to build a second bridge in Minden. "We will have to look at the traffic situation," he said. "Another bridge may be something we will have to consider."

Rome said he can see a need for a second bridge but he warned that such a project would cost millions of dollars.

"It's going to be costly," Murdoch said. "But it's only a matter of time before we need another bridge."

The question of attracting new industry to the area was raised.

Rome said Anson, Hindon and Minden has been trying for some time to bring new businesses into the area, especially with the creation of the Minden Business Park. He said he is hopeful that the current interest by Canadian Tire will encourage more development. "We also have to work more with local businesses," he said.

Murdoch said a more aggressive approach to bringing new business to the area. "We have to go looking for businesses," she said. "We need to offer incentives and make it easier for businesses to locate here."

"We have to put up a big sign that says, 'open for business'," Rigney said. He added that council must present a united front with respect to attracting industry. "We have to make sure that all of council sings from the same song sheet."

Deputy-Reeve candidates

Lisa Mercer, the current deputy-reeve of Lutterworth Township, said she has 15 years of experience in municipal politics.

"During that time, I've had the privilege to sit on county council," she said. "I was one of the original members of the acting Health Services Board. I feel I have been an asset to the council and I've taken my commitment to the council seriously. In my 15 years I have missed approximately five meetings. I've also been honest and candid."

"I've always believed that no matter how difficult it may be, it is important to let the ratepayer know my position on an issue."

"I try to know everything about an issue in order to make informed decisions," she said. "I do not sit on the fence."

As a member of Lutterworth council, Mercer sits on the Transition Board. She serves on the Waste Management, Parks and Recreation and Human Resources committees.

She moved here almost 20 years ago and she said she has seen a major increase in population, both full-time and seasonal. "I believe our population will continue to increase and it will be the responsibility of our future councils to support any new development that is obviously in harmony with our existing businesses.

With regard to the amalgamation process, she said the transition board is having a lot of meetings. "Although there have been many stressful times during the process, I look at this as a very positive and exciting change to the community," she said.

Mercer said that she is committed to keeping taxes down. "I also recognize that if I want my community to grow, and flourish, that can take money, which equates to tax dollars.

Jim McMahon is currently the reeve of Lutterworth Township. He has also served as deputy-reeve. He has been the owner-operator of a small business in Minden for 16 years.

Councillor candidates explain their platforms

"I fought to keep the OPP in Haliburton County," he said. "It was a proud day for me when the stand-alone OPP detachment was opened here.

He said there are challenging and exciting times ahead, with opportunity and growth in the future.

Some of the issues McMahon said will need to be addressed are, land ambulance, policing, waste management and 9-1-1.

"I accept those challenges and will apply my political and business knowledge and experience to guide the newly formed council on these matters," he said.

He said a priority is to help "make the three amalgamated municipalities work as they should, together as one powerful and effective government." He said he is accessible and he wants to help build a new, dynamic municipality.

McMahon said the issue of waste management should be the responsibility of the county level of government.

With the expected influx of baby boomers, he said the municipality "must be ready for them."

McMahon's business background came to the fore when he said, "we have to serve you, the public, our customers."

COUNCILLORS

is a third generation cottager who now lives in Lutterworth Township full time. He was a stock broker, worked for the Ontario Lottery Corporation and was a distributor for a greeting card company before retiring a year ago. He said he is prepared to spend the next three years as a "dedicated councillor." He has been a member of Lutterworth council since 1994. Wahlroth is running, currently unopposed, in Ward 2 (Lutterworth).

"I ran because I thought I could make a difference," he said. Only time will tell whether I have or not.

"I'm prepared to go into this with my experience of the last six years. It's been a long, hard grind to get to this amalgamation stage and I think the experience of some of the people in this room will be very important over the next two or three years."

Ron Buchanan

is a retired OPP officer of 30 years. He has been a member of Snowdon Council for three years and says he has relished the experience. He said he has enjoyed the morale of the people on council.

"On the job, especially in the good old days, I learned to rely on the people of the county (while working on the police force) and that relationship has continued," he said.

Buchanan promised to be a hard worker for the new municipality.

"I'll give you another three years of good representation," he said.

He is running, currently unopposed, for Ward 3 (Snowdon).

Peter Oyler

is one of four candidates running for Ward 1 (Minden). He said the new council must re-examine its own structure. "It must be open in its appearance and its substance, allowing for full public input and debate." he said.

Among his priorities is to follow the policy and intent of the official plan, when it is implemented; revitalizing Minden's downtown area; protecting the environment; opposing back-lot development where services are not available; re-examining financial priorities and making the best use of municipal property before expanding current facilities; and educating the public regarding recycling and finding new alternatives to landfill sites.

He is a recent full-time resident of the county, with 40 years of cottaging experience here. He was a member of council in the GTA for 17 years and he promised to devote his energy full time as councillor.

is a recent member of Anson,Hindon and Minden council. He was asked to join council after the death of Sinc Nesbitt. He is a graduate in civil engineering from the University of Waterloo. He is accredited with the Professional Engineers' Association of Ontario and he has successfully completed the Municipal Clerk-Treasurer's certification. He said he believes the attributes necessary for a successful municipal councillor include: knowledge, dedication to the community; accessibility to the voters; and the ability to work with others. "I truly believe I possess those attributes," he said. His private sector work included six years in the construction of roads and buildings. He was the County Engineer for Haliburton for 16 years.

Concern expressed about speed on South Water Street

For the past nine years he has been the manager of technical services and standards with the Ontario Good Roads Association. His duties included: development of design and maintenance standards of municipal roads; the review and development of provincial legislation affecting municipalities and the design and facilitation of education programs for municipal employees.

He has been a permanent resident of Minden for more than 25 years.

has been a resident of Anson, Hindon and Minden for 46 of his 48 years. He has operated within a family business for 35 years and owned and operated Minden Rent All for 18 years. He is a commissioned officer in the Canadian Armed Forces. He spent five years as an active officer with the Army Cadet Corps in Haliburton. He is president of the newly formed Minden Business Association. He has served three years on the AH&M Recreation Committee and two terms as a school board trustee in Haliburton County.

Cooper said he believes in accountability. "As a councillor, I feel I would be accountable to the taxpayer to see that the tax dollars are spent usefully and efficiently," he said."I feel the public has the right to know what goes on at council meetings and what people are being paid for their services." He said he feels tourism and industry can coexist in harmony. "We need industry to keep permanent residents here," he said. "We need permanent residents here to supply the necessary services for tourism. "

Cooper said the youth of the area has the right to a future in this county. He said he would make himself available and will strive to get answers to any questions asked of him. He said he is capable of making decisions, whether popular or unpopular, and not leaving those decisions up to others or "hiring the decisions out."

Daryl Moore

is a six-year veteran on Anson, Hindon and Minden council.

"I believe this election is about change," he said. He said that change was brought on by the downloading of services and cuts in funding by the federal and provincial governments, global economy problems, and the fast, high-tech industry that has evolved.

"Restructuring is about change for our future," he said. "The politicians of the 21st century must be innovative and must be willing to look at new ways to raise the funds needed to deliver the services, because the taxpayers' wells have run dry. There is no more money."

Moore said municipal governments must be prepared to work within new partnerships and organizations, "to find the course of our future and the solutions to stay on that course."

He said ways must be found to protect the resources we have -- the lakes, the tourist industry, the business community, the seniors' community and the landfill sites.

"We must take steps to protect our lakes because we can not afford any further damage to this resource," he said.

Landfill sites must be afforded special priority so their life-spans can be extended. "Waste management must be a priority of this new, amalgamated township," he stressed.

Marketing strategies to develop current businesses and attract new businesses are also a high priority for Moore.

Questions

During question period, the candidates were asked if they would consider reducing speed limits within Minden from 50 to 40 km/hr, most notably on South Water Street, where the street improvements seem to have resulted in a corresponding increase in speed along that street. None of the candidates supported reducing the speed limit throughout town, but Oyler said he would support a reduced limit on South Water Street.

The poor visibility at the junction of South Water and Main Streets was also discussed. One suggestion offered was to install traffic lights, which Jerry Rome pointed out would cost about $100,000. Another was to make it a three-way stop.

Protection of the environment

is one of two candidates running for councilor-at-large who attended the meeting. (A third, Ron Gambell, announced his candidacy this past week.) Valentine said he has a lot of training and a lot of experience.

"We owe a great debt to the people who have served Lutterworth, Snowdon, Anson, Hindon and Minden so well," he said. "When this is over there's only going to be seven people running our new township. Some are going to miss being elected and some have decided not to run, for their own reasons. These people are working their butts off making the transition situation as smooth as possible. Thanks to the transition Board, we've got our own senior people in place and things should go fairly well."

Valentine is a retired teacher. "I have a wide and varied education,"he said.

said he decided to get into municipal politics for several reasons, including the amalgamation process, accountability, the environment, customer service, access to information and economic development.

"With regard to amalgamation and provincial down-loading, I think I possess the education and skills to see this process through with minimal disruption. Selsky said he has the equivalent of the ACT, he is in the process of applying for certified municipal officer status and he is a certified engineering technologist. He has worked for a rural municipality, which has seen a significant population growth, for the past 24 years. He said that some of the issues faced by the new council are the same issues which have already been addressed by that municipality. He said he feels with his experience, he "could contribute various ideas and approaches that fit with the collective community vision."

He said water quality has become a major topic in light of the situation in Walkerton. "I anticipate it's only a matter of time before the water quality of our lakes and rivers will be very closely scrutinized," he said. Environmental concerns must be given priority, since the lakes and rivers of Haliburton County are among our most important assets.

Selsky said a significant increase in population within the county is expected as seasonal residents retire and move here. He thinks the new council must plan for such developments to ensure the quality of the lake and river systems, as well as the natural beauty of the area are maintained. In addition, the municipality must be prepared to provide the services necessary to accommodate an increased population.

Much of the allotted question period for the councillors-at-large was consumed by a few Lutterworth ratepayers questioning Valentine about his personal land dealings and his expenditures at a conference. Porportions of those exchanges and the subjects are covered in separate articles elsewhere in this edition of The Times.

Lutterworth council

Official Plan update will include artists studios

by Matthew Sitler

The following is a summary of items discussed at the October 28 meeting of Lutterworth Municipal Council

Jive-talkin pays off. Co-owner of Iron Jive art studio, Hilary Brown, appeared before the planning committee with her concern that a certain Lutterworth Official Plan policy would exclude her from operating the retail business she runs with her husband Leo Sepa in the Hamlet of Moore Falls. Section 3.5.2. of the plan deals with permitted land use policy and, until it was pointed out, did not include art studios within its list of allowed uses within a residential designation. As it turns out, the Lutterworth Council was supportive in the matter and adopted the words "Studios for the Fine Arts" after Bed and Breakfasts as applicable to the plan. The oversight fixed, Brown was elated. "Council has been extremely supportive in this matter," she said.

False Alarm By-Law

Where there's no smoke there are fines: By-law 31, passed at the Lutterworth Council meeting means fees will be levied when the fire department is called to a residence as a result of a false alarm. The charges will be levied after three false alarms are received within a twelve month period. If these false alarms have resulted in Police/Fire Protection service response, residents will be paying $300.

All-candidates meeting

Comments were offered by Lutterworth Councillor Bill Valentine and Deputy Reeve Lisa Mercer regarding the public accusations which were levelled at both Valentine and Councillor Mike Wahlroth at the all-candidates meeting October 23.

"To be dragged down like this was such a disappointment," said Mercer who apologised for not doing more to protect the councillors publicly. For his part, Valentine announced his displeasure for what went on at those proceedings. "He (Gerditschke) broadsided me totally," he said.

Watch Purchases

Lutterworth Council has purchased commemorative watches for all Township employees. The faces of each watch, with the dates 1879-2000, commemorate the beginning and end of Lutterworth Township as a single municipal entity. On January 1 of next year it will be merged with the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden and Snowdon.

As a show of good faith, in light of recent accusations, Council humorously presented their individual cheques and payments for their own personal watches.

"At least this is something they can't blame me for not doing," said Councillor Valentine as he reached for his wallet.

Health Unit calls for a provincial study of private wells and groundwater sources

Report from Haliburton, Kawartha Pine Ridge Health Unit

The Board of Health for the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit has called for the province to undertake a study of private wells and groundwater sources.

The motion was put forth after the Board had a lengthy discussion on recent changes to provincial regulations governing municipal water systems, as well as the impact increased water testing and public inquiries has had on the Health Unit's staff and resources in the past few months.

Dr. Alex Hukowich, Medical Officer of Health for the HKPR District Health Unit, told board members that new provincial regulations now require all municipally-run water systems to be examined by an engineer. Plans, outlining any upgrades and changes to ensure the water is safeguarded, must be submitted to the province and all changes must be made by December 1, 2002. There are 19 municipally-run water systems within the Health Unit's boundaries, including one in Minden.

Larger communal systems for area trailer parks, private developments and commercial premises are also covered, Dr. Hukowich said. There are more than 300 communal water systems within the Health Unit's area, many of which supply water to more people than some of the municipal systems.

As well, the province is conducting public consultations on small water systems, such as bed and breakfast establishments. While steps are being taken in these areas, as of yet, there is no indication of any plans for private wells.

The Board's resolution calls for the provincial government to undertake a study of private wells and groundwater as a means of developing a greater understanding of the accurate number of wells, the age and construction of the wells and whether all wells are being tested.

Health units have seen a dramatic increase in the level of testing and interest in private wells, Dr. Hukowich said. In previous years, health units acted as a depot for the public to pick up and drop off water sample bottles that were sent for testing at the provincial lab. Public health inspectors would respond to public inquiries on test results and provide advice on methods to correct an adverse reading. Last year, the HKPR District Health Unit received 1,300 public inquiries on water results.

As of June 1 of this year, health units have been receiving copies of all results from water samples submitted in their area. At this time, the province is still responsible for contacting individuals who have an adverse result on their test. Based on data sent to the Health Unit about samples submitted during the first 19 working days of June, Dr. Hukowich said that:

- 7,000 samples had been submitted from residents in Haliburton, Northumberland and Victoria counties
- 37 per cent of all samples submitted had adverse results - adverse meaning a total coliform reading greater than five and any amount of e.coli
- 23 per cent of samples submitted from Haliburton County were adverse; 40 per cent of samples submitted from Northumberland County were adverse and 38 per cent of samples from Victoria County were adverse
- these samples represent approximately 4.5 per cent of homes in Haliburton County, 11 per cent of homes in Northumberland County and 15 per cent of homes in Victoria County that are on a private well

A provincial study of water results conducted a few years ago showed that approximately 30 per cent of all samples submitted showed adverse results.

"So while we have seen an increase in the number of samples submitted, it doesn't appear that this year is unique in the number of adverse test results being returned," he said.

Dr. Hukowich told Board members that the Health Unit is now "in the loop" for knowing about adverse water

Periodic septic inspections proposed results, but has still been given no clear direction on what needs to be done. As well, Dr. Hukowich said health units need to review the methods used to inform people about water problems as boil water advisories may not be the quickest or most effective way to reach a large number of people.

"We're going on pure faith that when we put out a boil water advisory it will get to everybody and that everyone will know what to do," he said. "That's not necessarily the case and we need to look at ways to do that more effectively."

Briefly noted

• A motion was approved to support, in principle, a movement by the Paudash Lake Conservation Association and the Haliburton County Advisory Committee for the Environment to have the provincial government legislate periodic inspections of all septic systems. In letters to Dr. Hukowich, both groups outlined concerns around poor water quality caused by faulty septic systems, and polluting of area lakes and rivers.

• A motion was approved to participate in a Rapid Risk Assessment Surveillance with other health units. The surveillance program will cost the Health Unit $40,000 and will feature a telephone survey of area residents that will provide accurate information about the health needs and behaviours of local residents. The survey will be conducted monthly, and results will be available to the Health Unit within weeks, Dr. Hukowich said. These results will better enable staff to tailor their programs and services to the specific needs of residents in the Health Unit's area. Too often, Dr. Hukowich said, health units must rely on statistical information collected on a provincial-basis that is years out-of-date.

Medical Officer of Health

The Board will send a letter to the provincial government commending it on initiating the universal influenza immunization program. Under the program, the provincial government is providing flu vaccine to every resident of Ontario free of charge. While the program does present some logistical challenges to health units implementing the immunization program, Dr. Hukowich said this is one of the few times the provincial government has invested as much money in the prevention of illness and disease as in the treatment and care of patients who are already ill.

Dr. Hukowich reported that he is a member of a new provincial committee looking at the issue of children and asthma. As research has shown that tobacco smoke is a trigger for asthmatic attacks, Dr. Hukowich has suggested the committee recommend to the province that the Tobacco Control Act prohibit smoking in all public enclosed spaces. As well, Dr. Hukowich said he has suggested that the committee recommend that the province encourage pregnant women and new mothers who smoke to protect their fetuses and children by supplying nicotine replacement therapy at no charge.

YELLOW BILLING

Paul Renge of Minden Book and Stationery and other merchants in the area, report receiving an apparent invoice from what appears to be the Yellow Pages. He investigated and discovered the company, Yellow Business Directory.com, has nothing to do with the traditional Yellow Pages, which is part of the Bell Canada telephone book distributed to all Bell Customers.

However, even more disturbing is the fact the letter has the appearance of an invoice. Busy business people may think the letter is somehow connected to the Bell directory and forward the amount which appears on the statement. Merchants are cautioned to take the time to scrutinize such statements carefully to ensure they represent charges for goods or services which they in fact ordered.

Sunship Earth program reveals the seven secrets of life

Jennifer Minto - Student Reporter

The Seven Secrets of Life are being revealed in the next four weeks as the Sunship Earth Program commences for the year 2000. HHSS students who registered for this outdoor education experience, are in for a treat as they learn, along with a group of seven excited youngsters, that there is a lot more to nature than meets the eye.

Sunship Earth is an adventure learning experience created by Steve Van Mater and the Institute for Earth Education. The program is designed for children 12 years of age. Earth Education is an organization that has also created Earth Keepers and other levels of Sunship for younger and older kids. Van Mater's goal was to create a level for each age group, so that everyone could learn the value of nature, but for now Sunship remains the most popular. It is so popular in fact, that in over 20 countries all over the world, a similar Earth Education program is being taught to students following the same concept as Sunship.

One of the traditions at Sunship is the choosing of an Earth name for the week so that the participants can get more in touch with program. The students choose names like Tangerine, Niche, Caseopia, Tuna or whatever appeals to them. This is just another part of the magic that the program provides.

"It is really great to teach kids about the program." says 'Broc-

THE CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN
NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING
Regarding Proposed Zoning By-law Amendment

TAKE NOTICE THAT the Council of The Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden will hold a Public Meeting on Thursday, October 26, 2000, commencing at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Council Chambers, 7 Milne Street, Minden, Ontario to consider a proposed amendment to Zoning By-law No. 86-26, as amended, pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, as amended.

THE PURPOSE of the amendment is to change the zone category on approximately .50 hectares (1.23 acres) of land, located on Soyers Lake, at Part of Lot 31, Concession 10, Township of Minden, from Residential Limited Service (RLS) Zone and Hazard Land (HZ) Zone to Residential Limited Service Exception Thirty-eight (RLS*38) Zone and Har\zard Land (HZ) Zone.

THE EFFECT of the zoning change is to permit the construction of a boathouse on the property without the principal use of the property having been established. It is noted that the zoning amendment is being considered as an incidental and subordinate use to the proponent's island property in Soyers Lake.

ANY PERSON OR PUBLIC BODY may attend the public meeting and/or make written or verbal representation either in support of, or in opposition to, the proposed amendment.

IF A PERSON OR PUBLIC BODY that files a notice of appeal of a decision of The Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden in respect of the proposed zoning by-law amendment does not make oral submissions at a public meeting or make written submissions to The Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden before the proposed zoning by-law amendment is adopted, the Ontario Municipal Board may dismiss all or part of the appeal.

THE LAND affected by the proposed amendment is shown on the Key May as the "Land to be Rezoned."

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT AND ADDITIONAL INFORMATION is available for review at the Municipal Offices during regular office hours (8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday to Friday).

coli', one of the six councillors running the program this year. "Seeing how they take in the knowledge and then are able to apply it, and just knowing that you are helping them see how important our Sunship is--is amazing." Each week a different group of counsellors, drawn from the senior students at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, welcome a new group of 12 year olds to the camp experience. Many of the young students come from urban schools.

YMCA Camp Wanakita bought the program from the Institute 15 years ago because it was thought that it fit with the camp's ethic and the organization had a perfect setting for it. At the same time, Dave Mowat, (the Biology teacher at HHSS), decided that by allowing his students to be the counsellors, they could use the program as a part of their independent study.

Several councillors from the summer camp came back to Wanakita to participate in this program. Students from Whitby, Ancaster, Mississauga and Burlington travelled to Wanakita, located on Koshlong Lake near Donald, to get a sense of another form of teaching.

The Seven Secrets of Life are the keys to the entire program. EC-DC-IC-A are the seven letters that are ingrained into the young students' minds as they learn about many different aspects of nature.

- Energy flow and how the sun is the source of energy for all living things.
- Cycles teaches that the building materials of life must be used over and over.
- Diversity discusses the differences in all life forms.
- Communities talks about how all living things live in areas that meet their special needs.
- Interrelationships explains how plants and animals work together to survive.
- Change discusses the fact that everything is changing.
- Adaptation explores how plants and animals adapt to their surroundings.

All this information is then applied, at the end of the week, when the students are challenged to build a planet of their own. Using all of the seven secrets to make up their planet, they see that there are many factors that they now realize are more important then they first thought.

Leaving the camp with a new-found knowledge of the earth, they wear a beaded necklace to remind them of the seven secrets and the sun, air, water, earth, plants and animals. And as they head back home to the city, they promise to teach the tales to all their family and friends, because of the important task to save our planet.

The rewards of this program are found in the acknowledgment of teachers and students who have taken part in the adventure and seen what an effect it can have. If Van Mater could see the outcome of his program, he would realize just how valuable Sunship Earth has become in spreading the message to youngsters about the vulnerability of the planet we share and what can be done to keep it healthy.

Thanksgiving celebration will be the last for Boskung church

Final service for St. Stephen's

Almost one hundred years after it opened, St. Stephen's church at Boskung will open its doors to the public the last time in a special Thanksgiving service.

The picturesque stone church hasn't been used since ten years ago when a decline in attendance forced the cancellation of services. Although the church sat empty for many years, it still held a place in the hearts of local residents, many of whom often wondered what would become of the historic building.

"We couldn't just let it sit there. It means too much to too many people around here," says Ray Oliver, Chair of the Friends of St. Stephen's. His mother Mary was the last person for whom funeral services were held in the church.

In 1997 the Anglican Diocese performed structural inspections of most of its churches, closing the ones deemed unsafe. Both St. Paul's in Minden and St. Stephen's in Boskung were found to be in need of repair, but the lack of an active congregation at St. Stephen's prevented any work from being pursued. With this, and the anticipated cost to repair St. Stephen's in mind, the Diocese locked the door.

Members of the St. Paul's congregation carefully packed up the belongings of the church and stored them in Minden, unsure of the fate of St. Stephen's.

Later that year, a group of interested citizens held a public meeting and found enough support to justify trying to purchase the church from the diocese. From this, the Friends of St. Stephen's was born.

"That building is historically significant and we couldn't just let it sit there. Someone had to take the bull by the horns. We had a meeting and forty people came out," says Stanhope Museum Chair Carol Moffatt, who led the public meeting.

"We had lots of interest, lots of meetings and all sorts of people came forward with offers to sit on committees, donate money and do the required work," says Moffatt.

One such group is the Resident's Council of Hyland Crest. Ray Oliver found out that the original organ from St. Stephen's had been donated to Hyland Crest. He asked for it back on behalf of the Friends and the Resident's Council voted unanimously in favour of doing so. Although the organ has long since been electrified, it's a treasured piece of the church history.

The Friends wrote to the Anglican Diocese asking if they could buy the church. The diocese replied with the offer of selling the church to the group for one dollar if they incorporated. So they did, and in November of 1998 the 'Friends of St. Stephen's Heritage Church (Boskung)' received its incorporated not-for-profit status.

"It's a big responsibility but it's a very exciting time even though we don't know exactly what we're going to do with it. When we actually get possession of the building, we'll be calling all those people who said they'd help out, " said Moffatt who is also a board member.

It's been a long road, but the actual transfer of the church appears to be imminent. The Diocese will deed the cemetery and the parking lot to the township, and deed the church to the Friends. The repairs to the foundation of the building have been done and the Diocese has said it will leave the sconces, the baptismal font and the pews in the building.

Part of the transfer requires the building to be deconsecrated, however, since it will no longer be a church building. And that will be the ultimate end to an era of worship. To mark the occasion, the Reverend Merv Everall suggested to Ray Oliver that a special service be held.

"Well, we have no hymn books, so we're borrowing them from St. Peter's. The Martin brothers across the road have offered us the use of their generator so we can have lights and we'll get a little cleaning crew to go in and make sure it's OK for us to use. But be forewarned – there's no heat and no toilets," says Oliver.

"This service is a wonderful testament to the pioneers who built the church and is a way for us to say goodbye to one era and to welcome another," says Moffatt.

Anyone interested in helping clean up the building for the service can call Ray Oliver at 489-2768 or 905-953-1063.

St. Stephen's is located on Buckslide Rd. off Hwy. 35 at Halls Lake. The service will take place at 4 p.m. on Sunday, October 8. Dress warmly.

Bird greets new companion with a chirp

Senior League
by the Roving Reporters

Hello everyone. Hope you had a good week since we last chatted.

We have had some enjoyable times these last few days. The ladies from the Kinmount Baptist Church were here last Thursday, September 21, hosting our weekly Tea Party. We had a lovely visit with everyone and we were pleased to have Jack and Ruth join us. They brought a lady with them who also sang. We had a wonderful sing-song: thanks folks.

The following afternoon the Grandfathers provided entertainment at our Happy Hour. We always enjoy this wonderful group. Also on Friday, we received our new Canary. A funny thing has happened, however, to our other Canary. It had been singing beautifully but has now stopped. Both of them just chirp. Hopefully when they get to know each other they will start singing once again. There is nothing more beautiful than to hear canaries sing. We also have two new fish, Japanese fighting fish that have gorgeous colours. We're not sure if anyone has named them yet.

Rev. Burgess visited with quite a few residents over the weekend. We really appreciate these weekly chats. Also on the weekend, the Norland Hillbillies were here to provide their great music, thanks folks.

On Monday we enjoyed a game of bingo with Pearl. There were quite a few players and we sure had a lot of fun. Ruby reported that our big winner was Lillian Harrison, who took quite a bit of ribbing regarding her winnings, which gave us all a good laugh. That evening it was time for the card players to have some fun. We have now managed to get more players out, which is good for the game. Daisy Bates and Roy Nicholls against Margaret Bessie and Bessie Burke. The other table consisted of Harold Osborne with Marjorie Watt against Thelda Weston and Jason Peacock. Jason is a high school student who is coming in a couple of times a week as a volunteer. Also at cards were Corinne Bonneville and Sheila Burke. (Sheila is Marj Watt's daughter). This group reported that there were no run-a-way winners this week but all had a lot of fun.

The following morning we welcomed Barbara Trocewicz at Chapel Service. Barbara very kindly filled in for Rev. Allsop who was unable to attend. We had a lovely service and appreciated Linda playing the organ for us. That afternoon the craft group gathered and Brenda Henderson, (another volunteer and daughter of Marj Watt) who also helps out with our craft group, has this message to pass on. "I would like at this time to wish Dottie a speedy recovery and tell her she is really missed. I would also like to thank Ruby, Lillian, Harold and Bessie for all the help they have given me in the crafts." The residents agree with you Brenda on your wishes for Dottie, also they in turn thank you for being there for them. That evening "A Joyful Noise" joined us and delighted us with their gospel music. Our thanks to them for taking time to visit.

On Wednesday afternoon, we were pleased to join in a surprise retirement party for Barbara Carpenter. We mentioned in last week's column about Barbara's retirement, but we were good and kept quiet about the surprise that was planned. Needless to say she was really surprised and delighted to see so many well wishers there. She received some lovely gifts from residents, management and staff. It was a lovely afternoon and we are glad we were able to participate. Our best wishes to Barbara.

That evening there was another surprise planned for her. She was treated to a dinner at Jaspers, where staff members who were not working, joined her. We hear they had a lovely dinner and lots of fun. While they were out on the town, we welcomed the gang here for Pub Night. We sure had lots of fun, with both Dons, as well as Lloyd and Liesa. Both Edna McElwain and Linda accompanied them by playing the spoons. Our thanks for a great evening. We were also pleased to have young Jason joining us. We are enjoying his company. It's always nice to have young people around. Hopefully more will think about popping in to see us.

A few days ago Alice Prentice enjoyed a visit from her grandson who had just returned with a group who have been fighting fires in Montana. Speaking of Alice Prentice, she will be celebrating a birthday on October 5th. Happy Birthday Alice enjoy your special day.

Our Tea Party today, September 28 is scheduled to be hosted by the ladies of the Kinmount Catholic Church. It is our monthly Birthday Tea and we are looking forward to having them join us.

Our sympathy to Vera Stevens who recently lost her sister, Beryl to cancer. Beryl is the youngest of the siblings and will be missed by her family.

Have just about caught up on our news. Tomorrow (September 29) is our big day. The official opening of our home and hospital. There is bound to be much excitement here and we will have to tell you about it next time we chat. So we will say bye for now, but leave you with our thought of the week:

Life is hard, by the yard
But by the inch, life's a cinch.

Around the County Town

by Nora Snyder (call 286-4450; email <mindenhouse@on.albn.com>)

Oh, so crisp mornings leading to such beautiful days!! The leaves haven't reached their prime yet so maybe the 'big show' will be at Thanksgiving when the cottage population and tourists to our area return for the last hurrah of the season. I can remember as a cottager being told we should have been here last week!! It never seemed to hit right on that weekend. Also more people come up all through the Fall so they will catch it whenever it happens.

I have seen quite a few touring buses in the area lately. One of the buses pulled into the Beer Store parking lot and the passengers trooped out of the bus to look at the mural. Great, eh?

With the splendour of the season upon us, I am sure some of you are drawn to express your thoughts and feelings on paper and perhaps would like to share that in a supportive group of fellow explorers of writing. There is still room in a group Kay Millard and I want to start. We are thinking we will meet once a month. The group will be small, 4 to 6 members. The time to be decided. We want to learn more about writing through experience in a supportive environment. So any of you 'want-to-be's', those who write in journals, any of you with a love of the written word, please call me at 286-4450 and we will get started!!

This is a desperate call from the Minden Branch of the Cancer Society. A small group of dedicated volunteers are doing all the work now and they need more people who care and who can drive the distances required. Please call Elaine Anderson at 286-2898 for more information or to sign up for this very needed service.

Volunteer canvassers will be knocking on your door to obtain a donation for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB). The CNIB is a national, voluntary, non-profit organization which offers a range of rehabilitation programs and services to the visually impaired in the Minden and surrounding area. The CNIB provides the following services: rehabilitation teaching, orientation and mobility, vision rehabilitation, technical aids, career counselling and employment and library service. IN MEMORIAM

WATSON, Autumn: who passed away September 26, 1995. It has been five years since you have gone. The word mother reminds me of an angel, a Guardian Angel looking down from above. With appreciation and love, everytime I see an angel it brings a smile to my face. Remembering her unconditional love, her patience and loving grace, her advice and wisdom for every life she touched. She taught them about freedom, to be who they want to be, not who they should be. So live your life to the fullest. Whenever you see an angel always think about your mother.
Sadly missed by Husband Leo; Children Cheryl, Kathy, Larry, Wendy, Terry, Laurie and families.

KELLY, Margaret: In loving memory of Margaret (Peggy) Kelly, who passed away this Thanksgiving weeekend, one year ago, October 7, Our Feast of Our Lady of the Rosary. A mass will be offered at Our Lady of Fatima Parish, 8:30 a.m., Sunday, October 78
Missed by Bill, Theresa and Margaret.
